

Postdoctoral Scholar Positions

Dept. of Population Health and Disease Prevention University of California, Irvine

Postdoctoral scholar positions are available immediately to study epidemiology and vector biology of malaria parasites. Areas of particular interests are: 1) molecular epidemiology, 2) population genomics of malaria parasites or mosquitoes, and 3) infectious disease modeling. The positions will involve considerable field work in Kenya, Ethiopia or Southeast Asia. The candidates must hold a Ph.D. and possess an outstanding publication record. Candidates should have a strong background in one of the following areas: epidemiology, ecology, genomics, bioinformatics or molecular evolution. Prior Malaria research experience is not required.

Applicants should complete an online application profile at :

<https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF02896>

and electronically upload the following materials to be considered for the position:

- Cover letter (Candidates should describe their relevant research experience in the cover letter)
- Curriculum vitae
- Names and contact information of three references
- Diversity Statement

All required and requested documents must be uploaded in:

<https://recruit.ap.uci.edu/apply/JPF02896>

The University of California, Irvine is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer advancing inclusive excellence. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, age, protected veteran status, or other protected categories covered by the UC nondiscrimination policy.

Application deadline: Open until filled